

Lupus Knows No Boundaries

There is no boundary to the impact of lupus. Lupus is a global health problem that affects people of all nationalities, races, ethnicities, genders and ages.

Lupus can affect any part of the body in any way at any time, often with unpredictable and life-changing results. While lupus knows no boundaries, knowing all you can about lupus can help control its impact.

WORLD LUPUS DAY - MAY 10

SIGN THE PETITION
Join us and urge the World Health Organization to make lupus an international health priority and to ensure that people with lupus around the world are diagnosed and treated effectively.

Sign the petition and learn more at worldlupusday.org